FROM AI TO ROI: DRIVING FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE IN THE AGENTIC ENTERPRISE

January 12, 2027
6:00 PM-9:30 PM
Eastern Time

Margin pressure, rising costs, and unpredictable demand are making financial planning more complex than ever. As AI moves beyond insights to influence real-time business decisions, finance leaders have a new opportunity to protect profitability, improve forecasting, and allocate capital with greater confidence. But realizing that value requires more than adopting new technology. It means understanding where AI can drive measurable financial impact, how to manage risk, and where human judgment remains essential. Join fellow finance executives in Cleveland for a candid dinner discussion on turning AI-driven decisions into tangible business outcomes.

We'll explore how finance leaders can connect operational decisions to financial performance, identify opportunities for cost optimization, and establish the visibility and guardrails needed to scale AI responsibly. No slides and no sales pitch. Just good food, honest conversation, and peers navigating the financial realities of an AI-driven enterprise. Seats are limited.
