A PROACTIVE APPROACH TO RETAIL RESILIENCE

July 02, 2026
6:00 PM-9:30 PM
Central European Time

Retailers worldwide are facing rising levels of organised retail crime, increasingly sophisticated theft activity, and growing pressure to protect both physical stores and customer experience without adding operational friction.
Yet many security environments remain fragmented, reactive, and difficult to scale across modern retail operations.
This discussion explores how retail leaders are rethinking resilience by bringing together security, operations, and technology teams to improve visibility, accelerate response, and better manage risk across the enterprise.
Attendees will examine how AI-driven insights, real-time intelligence, and connected security strategies help organizations move beyond reactive loss prevention toward a more proactive and operationally aligned approach to retail security.
